

HARDING HAS MANY VISITORS

BY JACK ROYLE

STAFF CORRESPONDENT I. N. SERVICE
MARION, O., Dec. 30.—Senator Harding's principal visitors today slipped over the 1921 calendar to Saturday, March 4. They discussed with the president-elect the program of the momentous day which will climax when the chief justice of the supreme court administers the oath making him the leader and servant of the American people for four years.

While Senator Philander C. Knox, chairman of the senate inaugural committee, Edward B. McLean, chairman of the Washington inaugural committee, and Harry M. Daugherty, one of Senator Harding's closest advisers, came ostensibly to arrange details of the inauguration the cabinet situation was by no means overlooked. It is known on the highest authority that Senator Knox has been and is being considered most seriously of the past of secretary of state.

Already he has served in the cabinet under three presidents—McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft. It is by no means certain that he will be asked to add another service ribbon to his long and honorable record. His ideas on international affairs, it is understood, have matched closely with those of the president-elect and it is known that he already has written a peace resolution which has the approval of Senator Harding. Whether his place during the inaugural ceremonies will be with the cabinet or the members of the senate it is certain that his counsel and advice will receive the utmost consideration from the next president.

Other cabinet posts were vigorously discussed by a swarm of visitors during the day and the hopes and expectations of many candidates were raised and lowered as often as the president's hat during a ride down Pennsylvania avenue.

MOTHER OF THIRTEEN PARDONED BY WILSON

(INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE)
INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Dec. 28.—A pardon from President Wilson freed Mrs. Catherine Braun, fifty-five, from the woman's prison just in time to enable her to reach home with her newly born twins to spend Christmas Eve with the eleven other children who had been motherless since she was sentenced by Judge Anderson to three years in prison for using the mails in an alleged fake healing scheme. It became known today when she was sentenced in July, Mrs. Braun told a government physician of

'Rounding Out the Holiday Season'

Usually the housewife exhausts herself in preparations for Christmas and after that occasion is past, she has no energy for the week of holiday celebration which follows. New Year's Day comes as a kind of anticlimax to which no one has given a thought. And yet since it is often the last time for perhaps a whole year that the family is gathered together, since often the children must go back to school and even good friends are forgotten in the rush of daily affairs, it is well worth the housekeeper's while to make the end of the holiday season a happy time for her household.

If there is to be a party for watching the New Year in, it should be carefully planned—especially now, when there is no bumper of wine in which to drink the health of the Old Year as he passes out! It is a poor comfort to the incoming year to greet him with untidy sandwiches and badly made coffee. It costs no more to plan a delicious midnight feast, and to prepare it in advance. Here is one menu:

Bacon Canapes
Chicken, a la King
Hot Rolls
Celery
Ripe Olives
Cheese Cake
Coffee

The bacon canapes are made by cutting bread into triangles one-quarter inch thick, and sauteing in bacon fat. Spread with French mustard, cover with cooked bacon and pimientos, finely chopped. A simpler appetizer is served in the form of several hors d'oeuvres arranged attractively on little colored plates—celery, olives, ripe olives, a slice of pimiento, one or two small sardines.

For the Chicken, a la King, one may substitute chicken patties. Welsh rarebit, or the following: Melt slices of American cheese on graham bread toast, seasoning the cheese and covering with slices of thin bacon. Place under broiler (if you have an electric one, it may be done at the table) until the cheese melts and the bacon is broiled.

The Cheese Cake is made by mixing one cup cottage cheese, half a cup of sugar, two tablespoons melted butter, a scant teaspoon salt, three lightly beaten eggs, rind and juice of one lemon, and half a cup chopped seeded raisins and currants. Line patty pans with pastry, fill with the mixture and bake in a moderate oven 20 minutes.
For New Year's Day dinner it is a welcome change to serve roast goose. Here is one menu:

Cream of Celery Soup
Roast Goose
Sweet Potato Dressing
Apple Sauce
Orange Salad
Mince or Pumpkin Pie
Coffee

A small roast pig makes a good substitute for the roast goose, and if an ordinary dressing is used for the fowl, candied sweet potatoes may be served. The sweet potato dressing is made by boiling six large sweet potatoes with their skins on, peeling and mashing while hot, adding 2 tablespoons melted butter, salt and paprika to taste, a dessertspoonful of powdered herbs. Moisten with rich milk or cream and stir in the yolks of two well-beaten eggs. Beat hard until light. Stuff the fowl as soon as the dressing is cold.

If you expect New Year's callers, you should have plenty of hot drinks and cookies galore. If you are lucky enough to have a bit of sherry or brandy, egg nog is, of course the proper thing to serve. It is made by heating the white of an egg until stiff, adding a cup of beaten cream (milk or hot water may be substituted), 2 tablespoons wine or brandy, and the well-beaten yolk mixed with teaspoon sugar and a pinch of salt. If you have no liquor, serve coffee, tea or punch, and enjoy the start of the New Year properly.
